Shilpa Shetty has surpassed some of her contemporaries in letting loose her purse strings for a good cause.

The actress, who recently bought a stake in the IPL team Rajasthan Royals, has donated a generous amount of Rs. 1.2 million for NDTV's Greenathon, a campaign initiated by The Energy and Resources Institute (TERI).

The donation money would be used in support of TERI's 'Lighting a Billion Lives' project to provide solar power to four villages - each costing Rs. 3,00,000 - across India.
